3. Team Roles and Responsibilities

Because our team consists of three members, we have decided not to assign permanent individual roles. Responsibilities will be shared among all team members and divided based on the current tasks and each member's availability and experience.

The Coordinator, Lead Developer/Architect, Documentation Owner, and QA/Test responsibilities will be shared or rotated throughout the project. For each major task, the team will decide who is primarily responsible for completing or organizing the work. All team members will still contribute to technical development, documentation, testing, and project management.

4. Communication

Our team will primarily communicate through an iMessage group chat. Team members should respond to project-related messages within 24 hours on weekdays whenever possible. If someone cannot complete a task on time or attend a meeting, they should let the rest of the team know as early as possible.

Project files and important documentation will be kept in our GitHub repository.

5. Meetings

The team will meet at least once per week to discuss progress, upcoming tasks, and any problems with the project.

We will meet with our advisor at least once every two weeks, or more often when needed.

6. Decision-Making

The team will discuss major project decisions together and try to reach an agreement. If the team cannot reach an agreement, the decision will be made by majority vote.

Important project and design decisions will be documented so that the team can keep track of what was decided and why.

7. Conflict Resolution

If a disagreement occurs, the team members involved will first try to resolve it by discussing the problem directly.

If the problem cannot be resolved, it will be discussed with the full team. If needed, we will ask our advisor for guidance. The course instructor will be contacted only if the problem still cannot be resolved.

8. Team Expectations

Each team member is expected to contribute fairly to the project, complete assigned work by the agreed deadline, attend meetings whenever possible, and communicate with the team if any problems occur.

All team members are expected to respect each other's ideas and work together toward the goals of PillVision.

9. Signatures

By signing below, each team member agrees to follow the expectations described in this team contract. The advisor's signature confirms that the contract has been reviewed and approved.
